Beihang University, China, (COMAP Scholarship Award)
Beijing Forestry University, China
Beijing Normal University, China (Frank Giordano Award)
Beijing University of Technology, China
Harbin Institute of Technology, China (INFORMS Award)
North China Electric Power University Baoding, China
Peking University, China (SIAM Award)
Shanghai Jiao Tong University, China (2)
(INFORMS Award)
Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, China
University of Colorado Boulder, CO, USA
(SIAM Award & MAA Award)
University of International Business and Economics, China
Virginia Tech, VA, USA,
(MAA Award & COMAP Scholarship Award)
Xi'an Jiaotong University, China (ASA Data Insights Award)
Zhengzhou University, China

This year's contest ran from Thursday, February 8 to Monday, February 12, 2018. During that time, teams of up to three undergraduate or high school students researched, modeled, and submitted a solution to one of three modeling problems. The 2018 MCM was primarily an online contest. Teams registered, obtained contest materials, and downloaded the problem and data at the prescribed time through COMAP's MCM Website.

This year, the three MCM problems represented interesting scenarios for contestants, each offering a dimension of mathematical modeling that was unique. The authors of problems A, B, and C are Dr. Michael Tortorella (A, B) and Dr. Kelly Black, respectively.

Problem A introduced a long standing yet not widely understood problem involving high frequency (HF) radio transmissions that exhibit multiple hopping behavior due to both surface and atmospheric conditions. Teams were asked to identify influential variables and construct a mathematical model to determine the maximum number of hops a transmission could make before the signal dropped below a maximum usable frequency (MUF) over a calm ocean, a turbulent ocean, and rugged terrain. To compound the challenge a bit, the receiving station became a moving ship on the ocean. This was a tough problem with multiple modeling choices needed to be made in order to obtain viable, realistic answers to the questions posed.

The B problem addressed an interesting issue of language transference, cross-influence, and survivability in the modern age of sophisticated digital communications. Placed in the context of a large multinational service company seeking to identify potential locations for offices, teams were asked to mathematically model the evolution of language speaker densities for 10 major languages as influenced by population movement trends and digital communications to predict where offices should be placed and what languages in addition to English should be resourced with fluent speakers.

Finally, the C problem introduced a large set of data representing 50 years of energy use in California, Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas summarized in 605 variables, and asked teams to build a mathematical model to characterize an 'energy profile' for each state. This energy profile model was then used to assess which profile was 'best.' Thus, there was, as in past years, a good amount of structured thinking, discussion, and decision making required before any team could undertake mathematical modeling. A majority of teams chose this problem to tackle, yielding a wealth of insightful data insights upon which teams constructed their solutions.

A selection from the Outstanding solution papers will be featured in The UMAP Journal, along with commentaries from the problem authors and judges. All 10670 of the competing teams are to be congratulated for their excellent work and enthusiasm for mathematical modeling and interdisciplinary problem solving.

Major funding for the MCM is provided by COMAP. Additional support is provided by the Institute for Operations Research and the Management Sciences (INFORMS) and Two Sigma Investments. COMAP's Mathematical Contest in Modeling and Interdisciplinary Contest in Modeling are unique among modeling competitions in that they are the only international contests in which students work in teams to find a solution. Centering its educational philosophy on mathematical modeling, COMAP uses mathematical tools to explore real-world problems. It serves the educational community as well as the world of work by preparing students to become better informed—and prepared—citizens, consumers, and workers.
